

ADITC (Australian Drilling Industry Training Committee )

Registered Training Organisation 2200

Australian Drilling Industry Training Committee Ltd is a national industry body for the drilling industry.

We have a formal Registered Training Organisation division, ADITC, in continuous operation since March 2000.

This means we are authorised to provide training, assessment and award of national Australian qualifications from the Australian Qualifications Framework. The structure called competency based training works by demonstrating that people are competent against agreed national industry standards. We are the body which (on years of industry advice and consultation) developed the first and second sets of industry standards against which qualifications are awarded.

We provide services to all sectors of the drilling industry, at all levels of employment from new starters to managers of drilling businesses.

More information